200 Standard Tunes for C Instruments

In this section:

- Organization and Road Signs
- Tune Info
- Study Hints
- Standard Chord Progressions

This section contains the chord progressions for 200 standard jazz tunes in their original concert and Bb keys. If you play a Bb or Eb instrument, see 200 Standards for Bb Instruments or 200 Standards for Eb Instruments. See also Memorizing Chord Progressions in Chapter 3G: Learning Standard Tunes for ideas on how to study these chord progressions effectively.

The progressions contain the necessary road signs but, because of copyright restrictions, not the exact tune titles, melodies, or lyrics. You should also get the tune melodies (sheet music or recordings) and learn them. Many of the standards (especially those from film and Broadway) have the chords for the chorus only: the verse is usually omitted.

These chord progressions are not guaranteed to be 100% accurate with the originals. In some tunes, embellishing chords have been left out and some chords have been moved from beats 2 and 4 to beats 1 and 3 for easier performance. Also, some standards that were originally ballads are indicated as swing because they are often played as swing today.

Organization and Road Signs

For ease of memorization, each tune is printed four bars to a line. 1st and 2nd endings are always aligned vertically with each other so they can be easily found, and codas always begin at the left edge. Space is left so you can write in notes below the tune titles or above or below the tune titles. You can substitute some of your own chords as you become more familiar with the tune.

The road signs in these tunes are indicated as follows:

%	Repeat chord(s) in previous bar
	Double bar (end of section)
:	Repeat (to start or to :)
1 -----	First ending
2 -----	Second ending
DC—1e	DC al 1st ending (to start, take 1st ending, start over)
DC—2e	DC al 2nd ending (to start, take 2nd ending, start over)
DC—Coda	DC al Coda (go back to start, take the Coda)
DC—Fin	DC al Fin (go back to start, play until Fin)
(Ø)	Coda sign (jump to Coda)
---- Ø ----	Coda

Tune Info

Each standard tune has the following kinds of information:

- Title & composer
- Style (swing, latin, ballad, etc.)

- Basic form (AABA, etc.)
- Approximate level of difficulty: 1 (easy) to 5 (difficult)

Study Hints

The following hints will help you study the standard tunes in this appendix more effectively. Remember that you can study them with or without your instrument.

- 1) Review Lesson 12: Introduction to Chord Progressions for the basic ideas on how to hear and memorize progressions.
 - 2) Try the easier tunes first, then the more difficult tunes when you feel confident with your hearing and memorization skills.
 - 3) Study the road signs (repeats, DC—Coda, etc.) and note the form of the tune.
 - 4) Look for any two-bar or four-bar repetitions of chords in the tune; this lets you memorize fewer chords.
 - 5) Find the II-V-I's and their variations in the tune. Recognize when an altered II-V-I takes you into a new key.
 - 6) Use ideas from Simplifying Chord Progressions in Chapter 1G: Chords, Keys, and Progressions.
